Schools To Hire Engineer For Planning

The Cameron School Board in a short meeting Thursday evening approved hiring an architectual engineer to make a thorough survey of the school system and present recommendations to the board.

Billy Hornung, chairman of the board's building committee reported on a meeting the committee held with the representative of a Bryan engineering firm.

The engineer will make recommendations on the school's present and future needs.

In other business at the short meeting, the board approved the school budget for 1971-72 and approved a recent audit of the school's books.

Time for the next school board meeting will be 7 p.m. and it will be held November 16 so Supt. D. R. Dodson can attend. Dodson, who had heart surgery last month, is recuperating at home.

The board agreed to commit enough money for all school children to attend a performance of the Dallas Symphony, scheduled to make an appearance here in January. Frank M. Luecke, Herald editor-publisher, appeared before the board to answer questions and supply information on the concerts.

COOKS POINT

An official Historical Marker was unveiled at this community honoring Judge Andrew Sidney Broaddus who headed a wagon train of colonist emigrating from Sparta, Caroline County, Virginia to Burleson County in the 1850s. Bryan Lowers Taxes

BRYAN

Folk Fete Board Plans Incorporation

The interim board of Folk Fete, Inc., met Tuesday in the offices of Ellett & Camp to discuss organization of a corporation for the annual June community festival.

Robert Ellett, Cameron Chamber president and ex officio member of the Folk Fete board of some 20 members, will meet with the committee in another meeting to finalize application for incorporation.

Folk Fete, Inc., will be like the Cameron Industrial Foundation, Inc., a non-profit corporation, selling shares to local residents to finance growth of the two-year-old festival.

Officers will be named by the committee, members of which represent various ethnic and participating groups within the Fete, co-organized by Miss Mildred Thornton and Mrs. Perry Holder.

Discussion centered around additional attractions for the Fete and committee assignments for promotion, pilgrimage, ethnic dances, cultural attractions and other elements of the festival, which last June attracted about 8,000 people.

That class will have a dinner at Cameron Country Club on Saturday night, October 23.

Postmaster Warns About Mailboxes

"Mailboxes are protected by federal law, and pranksters or vandals who tampler with, damage or destroy the boxes and their contents can be fined or imprisoned," Postmaster Narvie L. Caperton warned today.

There have been a number of cases in the Cameron area lately and Caperton said that the local law enforcement officials and postal officials have been notified of these recurring incidents.

"Pranksters -- and especially children who do not know any better -- should be made to realize the seriousness of their actions," the postmaster said. "A $1,000 fine or a term in jail is enough to take the humor out of any prank."

Chrisco Moving From Alcoa RW

Howard F. Chrisco, Works Manager of Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works since 1965, has been named Project Manager of the aluminum smelter that Alcoa has contracted to build for Anaconda Aluminum Company in Sebree, Kentucky. He will assume his new management post about January 1, 1972.

Fred P. Bergeron, presently General Production Manager at Alcoa's Massena (New York) Operations, will move to Rockdale to become Works Manager, effective January 1, 1972.

At the same time, Joseph H. Goldman, Public Relations Manager at Rockdale Works since June of 1969, will transfer to Alcoa's Point Comfort (Texas) Operations where he will continue to coordinate the public relations activities of the three Alcoa plant locations in Texas: Rockdale, Point Comfort, and Marshall.

Harold E. Reagan, Public Relations Manager at Point Comfort Operations since 1968, has been named Public Relations Manager at Rockdale and will transfer there about January 1, 1972.

Chrisco is a 38-year Alcoa veteran and holds bachelor and master's degrees in chemical engineering from the University of North Carolina. After graduation in 1933, he joined Alcoa at the Badin, North Carolina, smelter. From there he moved to Alcoa's Massena (N.Y.) Operations and became aluminum plant superintendent in 1946. From Massena, he transferred to Wenatchee, Washington, in 1953 as assistant Works Manager. In 1960 he was named smelting works manager at Point Comfort Operations and in 1965 he became Rockdale Works Manager.

While at Rockdale, Chrisco has been a director and member of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, Texas Chemical Council, Texas Manufacturers Association, and the Texas Research League. He has been active in the Rockdale Chamber of Commerce, and is a member of the Thorndale and Cameron Chambers of Commerce, South Milam County United Fund, and the Rockdale Rotary Club.

He is a director of the Region 6 Education Service Center. He is a member of the Austin Club, the Rockdale Country Club and is on the board of directors of the Richards Memorial Hospital and Milam County Savings and Loan Association.

A Strong People...

It takes a strong people to join the dynamic changes occurring here, but Cameron and Milam Countians are incorporating themselves into the movement with aplomb.

The series of developments in the downtown area continues to broaden and interest in other development hardly could be higher.

An example is the fact that four-fifths of the cost of bringing the Dallas Symphony to Cameron in January is already assured. The Cameron Chamber-sponsored event will be one of the major events of 1972 and of the decade of the '70s.

Momentum is the important item in progress. Inertia is difficult to break, but when an area or a people keep a constancy and a pace that now is Cameron's, there is little concern for looking back.

As development continues to unfold, Cameron can congratulate the foresight of civic leaders and the courage of our people to take a chance for the high road, given an alternative that would be more comfortable, but less conducive to joie de vivre.

Why Not 4 Quarters?

Someday, when air conditioning is common in public schools in Texas, the four-quarter system may be possible.

A Reuters story, datelined Molalla, Ore., told in your Thursday Herald about a public school district finally making the four-quarter system work.

It is difficult because of traditional resistence to summer classes, even when air conditioned, and because teachers and students alike seek a break from the nine-months schedule.

The time is coming, however, when modern systems have reached their capacity to grow, once really modern, and a new approach to space problems sought. This is one solution.

Reuters said the technic livened the whole system once it began. It might be a solution, beyond summer classes, in Texas public schools.

Some colleges and universities have been on the quarter system for years. And it has worked there.

Molalla is only 2,000 population, but it may be that schools of larger size can find the combination that will improve education for larger numbers of students in the same size, modern facilities. Why not?

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Turned On" Wedding

"I do," solemnly spoken by bride and groom, is usually enough to make a legally valid marriage. But suppose one or both of the parties is "turned on," either by drugs or by alcohol. This may create a situation once described as follows by Euripides:

"The tongue hath sworn, but the mind is unsworn."

Marriage is a contract—a special kind, to be sure, but a contract nonetheless. The key to a contract is mutual assent, a meeting of the minds. And a mind not competent to assent is not competent to make a contract, no matter what the tongue says.

How clear must the mind be? The law's test is whether the person is able to understand the nature of a marriage contract at the moment he says "I do." If he is not, the marriage may be annulled.

But intoxication short of that will usually be overlooked. Since the law gives matrimony the benefit of the doubt, courts generally will not grant an annulment merely because the bride or the groom was a little high.

Furthermore, even if one of the parties was indeed "out of it" at the time of the wedding, the marriage may become valid because of what happens afterward. Take this case:

A man married a girl he scarcely knew, as the climax of a protracted drinking party. Seeking an annulment later, he pleaded in court that he had been in an alcoholic stupor at the time of the wedding.

But the girl pointed out that he had continued to cohabit with her for several days after he had sobered up. Result: annulment denied, because the marriage had been "ratified" by subsequent events.

What if one of the parties, although in good shape at the wedding itself, had concealed the fact that he was an alcoholic or a dope addict? Under these circumstances, most courts will grant an annulment to the spouse who has been deceived.

Thus, a bride won an annulment when she discovered after the nuptials that her bridegroom was a heroin addict. The court said this was the kind of vital information that, in all fairness, any bride had a right to know.

Chappies Inspire New Industry For Three Enterprising Sisters And Friend

REVERSABLE wrap-around with matching hat and 'hot pants' is a popular design by THYA, Inc. for the spring market. Model Terry Fuchs daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Fuchs, approves the style for sandbox play. Ensembles by THYA, Inc. will be popularly priced in retail stores.

The serene exterior of the two-story white house at 5th and Travis streets belies the feverish activity on the second floor. Here former bedrooms and porches now sing with the whirl of sewing machines and the click of sissors.

No quilting party, it is headquarters for THYA, Inc., a young firm specializing in little girl dresses and playclothes that have already interested buyers for the spring market.

If you find THYA hard to pronounce, try Tres Hermanas y Amigo: Three Sisters and Friend. The name aptly identifies the firms principals: sisters Mary Jo Stroup, Lucille Monroe and Jane Harman, and their financial backer - advisor - brother, Dick Stedman.

Chappies, leather riding outfits wore by 16th Century Spanish Conquistadors, brought THYA, Inc. into existence. Designer Mary Jo Stroup took the basic look, wrapped it in elegant brocade and came out with a pants and vest ensemble for formal evening wear. Grace Jones of Salado endorsed the design by adding it to her fall collection.

Though this started THYA, Inc., the three sisters opted for childrens clothes as their specialty. They scaled down the chappies for the age six and under customer, added whimsical animal appliques and quickly found a major New York manufacturers representative eager to handle the new line.

Meanwhile, back in Cameron the sisters divided responsibilities: Mary Jo, design; Lucille, production; Jane, sales. They carefully selected a "three man" crew (Mary Angell, Peggy Lester and Barbara St. Clair) who combined sewing talents and enthusiasm for the new project.

Desks, cutting tables and sewing machines were moved to the second floor of the Stroups home while carpenters started work on permanent offices and showroom south of Cameron.

Concentration in the temporary location has been limited to samples for the spring market. Actual production will begin when the new offices are complete.

Dress plant would be a misleading name for the THYA, Inc. operation. Though garments will be turned out on high speed machines, each will bear the seldom found extras of finely stitched embroidery and appliques. That the clothes are carefully constructed in a congenial atmosphere shows in the final product.

Much of the time between the dream in May and the first samples in August was spent finding the right fabric supplies, the right sewing machines and tables and most important, designing and cutting patterns for the appealing clothes. All of the outfits are made of no-iron cotton and polyester. Fabrics for the appliques are shipped to a laminating firm in St. Louis.

Partner Jane Harmon, on a selling trip along the Gulf Coast of Texas and Louisiana, has called in nightly reports of orders from stores in that area. "This is pushing us to get into production for January shipments," Mrs. Monroe said.

If early successes are any indication, THYA, Inc., will soon take it's place as another industry for Cameron to point to with pride.

MODEL MISS - Terry Fuchs shows the split leg of the wrap-around 'chappies', one of the leading original designs of THYA, Inc.

CHINESE influence dress and hat with appliqued fish design is a favorite of model Terry Fuchs who has been the 'tester' for most of the designs by THYA's Mary Jo Stroup.

SAMPLES of THYA spring clothes are carefully constructed in temporary quarters by Peggy Lester (left) and Mary Angell as designer Mary Jo Stroup looks on.

Book Review Is Program For Club

The October 14 meeting of the Pleasure and Profit Club was held in Mrs. S. M. Harrell's home with Mrs. Paul Young as hostess. Mrs. E. J. Burkes reviewed the autobiography "The Americanization of Edward Bok," a success story of the life of a Dutch boy in America. Edward Bok was convinced that magazines and newspapers offered little reading material for the woman, and he spent his life in writing articles of interest to them.

Bok was editor of the Ladies Home Journal for over thirty years, and numerous sections now contained in the magazine were because of his efforts.

In explaining a successful life Bok described the three areas he felt important in each individual's life; education, achievement, and service to others.

Several members brought creations of her own to share with club members; these included a braid rug of dacaron scraps, beads, a wreath created from everyday things, and two beautiful shawls.

Mrs. Virginia Schuhsler, president, led discussion during the business session which included plans for the October 30 meeting at the Springlake Country Club.

Personal Mention

Sunday visitors of Mrs. John Thweatt included: Mrs. Vina White of Maysfield, Mrs. Lelia Thweatt of Jones Prairie, Mrs. Dan Thweatt of Cameron, Mrs. Roy Newton and Mrs. Mary Massengale of Maysfield, Mrs. Clara Thweatt of Cameron, Mrs. Jim Thweatt and son Calvert and Mary Kay, David and Elaine.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Dodson were in San Antonio this week attending the funeral of her sister who died Tuesday in Nix Hospital.

Garden Club Tours Hills Herb Farm

Fleur de lis Garden Club members toured Hilltop Herb Farm at Conroe Thursday morning and then enjoyed a herb-seasoned luncheon in the farm's garden dining room.

Mrs. J. P. Hill, who operates the herb farm with her husband, guided the Cameron group on a tour of the 20 x 100 foot greenhouse and general store and tasting bar where dried herbs, colorful jellies, pickles, and fragrant spices are sold.

During the tour Mrs. Hill described plants, where they originated and how to use them in cooking. More than 1700 varieties of herbs are grown at Hilltop Herb Farms in the greenhouse and outdoor gardens.

Luncheon menu for the Fleur de lis Garden Club group included raw vegetable soup, chive butter and sour cream - cucumber spreads, herbed steak and "tranquility tea." Mrs. Hill explained that the tea was made of a selection of herbs grown on the farm.

LEAVENING AGENT -- A leavening agent is a substance used in flour mixtures which makes the cooked product porous or light, explain Extension foods and nutrition specialists. There are three leavening agents: air, steam and carbon dioxide.

Noted Calligrapher Is Guest Speaker For City History Club

Francis Randolph Moerke of Austin, nationally known authority on old books and printing, was guest speaker for the Cameron History Club Tuesday afternoon.

The Club met at the home of Mrs. Roy Law with Mrs. D. R. Dodson and Mrs. S. M. Harrell assisting as cohostesses.

Mr. Moerke, former director of public relations and publication production for Von Boeckemann Jones Printing Co. of Austin, has turned a hobby of calligraphy into more than a sparetime activity. He has given special attention to the ancient and beautiful manuscripts in tracing the general history of books and printing.

Today, after completing an elaborate manuscrpit and hundreds of fine scriptural certificates and delving into all aspects of the old profession, Mr. Moerke is considered one of the nation's leading authorities on old books and printing.

Monks of old often spent an entire lifetime in completing one elaborate hand written manuscript, Moerke explained. "When I couldn't afford to buy one of the beautiful manuscripts like I wanted I decided to make one".

This he has done, a four year project and one seldom undertaken in modern times.

Mr. Moerke's interest in religious works together with his knowledge of the original Gutenberg Bibles led him to begin writing the four gospels - Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

During the program he displayed hew now famous manuscript "The Four Gospels" decorated in fine hair-line art work, noting the different vividly colored borders, highlighted throughout with a lavish 23-carat gold leaf motif.

When Mr. Moerke finished the Biblical manuscript on Easter Sunday 1954 he had it bound in an envelop binding of goat skin "so it will last many years." This manuscript has been displayed in many parts of the country where the calligrapher has lectured.

Mr. Moerke presented two elaborate illuminated manuscripts of "The Psalm of David" the 23rd Psalm, to two members of the History Club and the History Club and the "Pastors Prayer" by Martin Luther to Rev. J. E. Lafferty. These were also executed in the hair-line art work.

At the close of Mr. Moerke's address the guests were invited into the dining room. Assisted by Mrs. John B. Henderson, Mrs. S. M. Harrell and Mrs. Clyde Smith of Austin, the hostess served petite fours decorated with candied violets, hors d'oeuvres, Marzipans, mints, nuts and South American coffee punch to 15 members and 8 guests including Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Moerke and Mrs. Clyde Smith of Austin.

TMA AdoptsVendor Drug Policy

AUSTIN

A policy position on the state's new vendor drug program has been adopted by the Texas Medical Association after a lengthy meeting with representatives of the Texas State Department of Public Welfare.

The Executive Board of the 11,000-member medical association stated that the primary responsibility of the physician is to provide quality medical care for all his patients, based on the patients needs and not upon program restrictions. TMA pledged its support to those programs which can contribute to the quality of medical care and which are designed to permit the physician to prescribe medication in his usual manner -- written or oral prescriptions -- as required for the care of the patient.

James H. Sammons, M.D., TMA president, said that "the existing vendor drug program regulations do not contribute to the quality of medical care and impose restrictions which place the physician in a position of enforcing the program's limits."

Many problems were faced by both physicians and pharmacists when the new system of providing prescription drugs for Texas welfare recipients began on Sept. 1 of this year.

State welfare department guidelines sent to physicians last month placed a major administrative burden upon physicians, including extensive paperwork and legal liability. TMA representatives pointed out at that time that these additional responsibilities would seriously curtail the physician's time for treating patients.

By action of its Executive Board, the Texas Medical Association has asked the Texas welfare department to reconsider the provisions of the vendor drug program and to reorient the physician's role to one of providing prescriptions.

Prior to September 1 many Texas welfare recipients received a cash allowance, as part of their monthly checks, for their pharmaceutical needs. The new program provides that they obtain a certain amount of prescribed drugs free of charge from participating pharmacies. Pharmacies then would bill the state.

Under the new program, physicians had been asked to assume a number of administrative duties, including checking the recipient's Medical Care Identification Card to ascertain the number of perscriptions and dollar amount which are allowed monthly, making entries in the patient's Medical Assistance Record Book, placing their Social Security number on each prescription or providing the number to the pharmacist, signing prescriptions given over the telephone within 20 days, and filling out a special form when the physician felt that additional medication was needed by the patient.

The State Department of Public Welfare recently has indicated that these duties are optional on the part of the physician. The department now is considering revising the procedures.

CATARACT NOT FILM

Cataract is not a film on the eye's surface, as the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness reports many people believe, but a clouding of the lens of the eye itself. Surgical removal of the lens, safe and effective 95% of the time is the only known treatment for cataract. Following surgery, special glasses or contact lenses are worn to duplicate the function of the lens which has been removed.

Bill's Dollar Stores cover 8 states and their volumn buying allows them to pass savings on to their customers.

"We guarantee the lowest prices in Cameron in our cosmetic and drug departments," Mrs. Whittington said and invited customers to shop and compare.

In addition to low prices, Bill's Dollar Store offers a lay-away service for customers who like to shop early while selections are best.

Milam Auto Supply Stocks Complete Line Of Vehicle Parts

A complete, modern auto parts center which also has many truck and tractor parts is what Milam Auto Supply, Inc., has become in less than four years.

Owned by corporate partners Jerry Mikula, Ray Goeke and Melvin Provasek who are also active in its management, Milam Auto Supply is a wholesale center for just about anything that makes an auto run.

And retail specialties like power tools by Black & Decker and Chicago Pneumatic, trailer hitch parts and a line of engine chemicals and compounds make Milam Auto Supply a unique center.

The firm stocks a complete line of standard auto and truck parts for domestic vehicles of most any make and model.

Daily orders are sent to base supply houses each morning at 11. If a part or parts is needed the same day, special delivery by bus can have the part back to the customer that same day.

A service like this is indespensible to mechanics throughout the Milam area and to motorists, particularly having auto work done on a holiday or weekend breakdown.

This kind of service is why Milam Auto Supply, Inc., is growing. Orders for special and foreign auto parts is only part of the story.

Some special machine shop work is available for valve grinding and brake shoes as well as a wide display of auto hand tools for the amateur or professional mechanic.

WHAT IS STAINLESS STEEL?
"Stainless Steel" is a name that can only be applied to a particular family of alloy steels that contain at least 11½ per cent chromium. That amount of chromium — or more — leads to the formation of an invisible film on the surface of the metal, which protects it from corrosion and rusting. If the film is disturbed in any way, it instantly heals itself as soon as oxygen touches it.

Machine Mops Oil Slicks

VANCOUVER, B.C.

A machine for mopping up oil slicks at sea, developed by a Canadian engineer on the principle of the simple wringer washer, has become a runaway bestseller around the world.

Production and distribution agreements have been signed or are planned in 45 countries for the Slick-Licker or Oilevator, as inventor Richard Sewell of Victoria first called his brainchild.

The unit consists of a large conveyor belt, made of a fibrous absorbent material, that soaks up oil as it passes through a slick. As the belt moves through a system of rollers the oil is squeezed out into a hold on the barge from which the unit operates.

The recovered oil is so clean it can usually be packed immediately in barrels ready for use.

Most of the orders have come since the licker passed its first major test last year when it mopped up thousands of tons of oil that leaked from the tanker Arrow, wrecked in a storm in Chedabucto Bay, Nova Scotia.

The licker soaks up oil at a rate of 45 gallons per minute or about 60,000 per day.

The Canadian government, concerned about the risks to its shores from increasing tanker traffic, has bought five machines and others have been bought by three large Canadian oil companies.

They cost $7,500 each. A company in Singapore will manufacture the units under an agreement and similar deals are expected to be completed soon with Britain, France and Australia.

Sewell said he has also received inquiries from United States interests and expects soon to sign a distribution agreement there.

Sewell, who bought an old washing machine to study and modify his roller system, said the basis of his invention is "preferential wetting."

Before going into operation the conveyor belt is treated with a light oil to which the neavier oil in the slick adheres.

The advantage of the Sewell machine is its ability to recover spilled oil. Dispersing oil slicks with cracking emulsions or chemicals destroys the oil and damages sea life.

Metro'S Lot Sold For Development

By Bruce Russell
Reuter Correspondent

LOS ANGELES

Bulldozers have begun nosing through Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's backlot in Culver City splintering like matchwood the cowboy towns, villas and adobe forts used in hundreds of films and television plays.

In place of the old outdoor film sets, many of them stripped by vandals, will rise a more up-to-date Californian dream. A walled and guarded condominimum with lake, bicycle paths and swimming pools.

The 68-acre Metro backlot number three was sold to Levitt and Sons, Inc., builders of the postwar Levittowns, by financially pressed Metro for $7.25 million.

One of the few undeveloped large lots in Los Angeles, west side, the lot was considered a real - estate prize. By 1974 it will house about 4,700 residents in individual houses and apartment buildings.

Levitt officials, impressed by the history of the land on which they are building, said they would try to retain associations with its past.

Executive Vice-President Louis Fischer said at the launching of the scheme. "We are cognizant of the memories associated with MGM's Lot Three, and will do everything to retain the atmosphere, charm and history associated with the area."

But a survey of the plans shows little will be retained beside some names. The central lake used by Metro for countless sea battles and a few relics to be used to decorate recreation centers.

New Test Developed For Cancer-Causing Potential

By Sylvan Silver

BALTIMORE, Md.

Scientists at the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health have found a fast, sensitive test to determine the cancer - causing potential of new chemical compounds.

The test could be a boon to industrial researchers and government regulators concerned with the safety of new products.

It usually takes at least three months to test compounds by determining whether substances produce cancer in laboratory animals.

The new procedure, developed by Dr. Paul Ts'o and his colleagues, can provide this answer in from 10 minutes to a half hour.

Dr. Ts'o said that additional work being performed by his group one day may permit doctors to distinguish individuals with a lower resistance to cancer than others.

Persons found to have a low resistance would be told not to smoke and--perhaps--not to live in a heavily polluted city, he said.

Dr. Ts'o, professor of biophysical chemistry at the Hopkins, delivered a paper outlining his findings at a national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Washington earlier this month.

The basis for his findings is the interaction between chemical compounds and DNA -- deoxyribonucleic acid -- in individual cells. DNA is found in all cells and is the material of which genes are made.

Essentially, Dr. Ts'o synthesized a chemical substance naturally formed by animals when they are exposed to a known cancer - causing hydrocarbon called benzo (A) pyrene.

His team found that the substance produces what is known as a chemical radical that attaches itself to DNA. Other hydrocarbons, not known to cause cancer, did not react in the same way when tested under identical conditions.

"If the compounds do dorm radicals and bind with DNA. They should be considered dangerous," he noted.

Dr. Ts'o said his group has tested about 10 chemical compounds and wants to study a total of about 40 compounds to confirm the results.

"If the correlation holds out--and it now looks promising -- it will be a very rapid procedure," he said.

He said a chemical company could perform the test on new compounds that have been synthesized or on, for example, new kinds of crude oil. The federal Food and Drug Administration could employ the test in reveiwing new drug compounds, he suggested.

"Say a new kind of road-paving material has been developed and the company wants to know if it's safe for workers, it can now quickly tested," he noted.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN
by VERN SANFORD

Here are some facts of interest to outdoorsmen:

Cricket raising for bream fishermen now has become big business. A half-dozen cricket farms through the south produce something like a million crickets per year, which are sold at local bait stands.

A true saltwater goose is the American brant. Seldom is it found far away from the sea. They are not migrants to Texas.

A whittled wooden plug is believed to be the first ever tossed at a bass. That happened less than a hundred years ago . . . back in 1889.

You can always identify a copperhead snake by the pit on each side of its head. That's the reason they are called pit vipers.

Chukar hunting is permitted far into the winter months where they are legal game. Texas has planted them, but they are not yet in shootable numbers.

Watch those little sandpiper birds along the water's edge. They are always tipping their heads or their tails and have the nickname of "teeter-tails".

Texas fishermen are learning to use poles like those in Florida for moving their boats over sand bars and through moss beds. These can be the kind that pole vaulters use, with a foot added at one end.

A snapping turtle feeds only under water and it cannot draw its head or tail into its shell.

Empty, quart-size ice cream containers, the round kind, if filled with water and placed in your deep freeze, can be used to cool your portable ice chests. Provides drinking water, too, when melted.

There is economy in buying chunk ice for your chest instead of the crushed variety. It costs much less and lasts a good deal longer.

If you want to add to lakeside beauty, take along a few dime packages of flower seed when you go fishing. Strew them at good places along the banks of your favorite stream or lake.

When taking a camera into a boat, drop it into a plastic bag and put a rubber band around it. This gives the delicate mechanism of the camera protection against spray.

A small transistor radio is a handy item to keep in the tackle box if you are interested in getting the news while out fishing. Don't play it so loud as to disturb other fishermen.

Most public parks now have signs prohibiting dogs. If you are taking a long vacation trip, it might be best to board the pooch.

You can make cheap and effective fishing sinkers. Use spent .22 shells. Drop a small-size paper clip or a piece of bent wire into the shell. Then fill it with molten lead, solder or a mixture of water and pure cement.

Chaps Rough Yoe Hopes, 17-0

By Marilyn Hauk

The Westlake Chaparrals rolled to a 17-0 win over the Yoemen Friday night to continue their undefeated record.

In the first half the Yoemen and Chaparrals battled to a 0-0 tie, but the Chaps soared to victory in the remaining part of the ballgame.

The Yoemen started a drive from their own 15-yard line in the first half in hopes of putting points on the scoreboard. After stomping to the Westlake 36-yard line, the Yoemen chose to punt with fourth down and six yards.

Westlake's first score came in the third quarter on a drive started from the Westlake 20-yard line with a punt return by Brad Adams. Tim Skaggs galloped 43 yards to position the Chaps on the Yoe-45.

A five yard penalty placed Westlake on the 50-yard line, but one again Skaggs came through with a 25 yard run to the Cameron-25.

Scott Ingraham completed the drive with 25 yards to score. The PAT benifited the Chaps making the score 7-0.

Cameron received the ball but could not hold on to it. After two recovered fumbles and an incomplete pass, the Yoemen punted to the Westlake 20 and watched the Chaps return it to their own 30-yard line.

Glen Bloomquist advanced the ball to the Cameron 35, but the ball was lost at the 34-yard line. A pass from Ingraham to Bloomquist gave the Chaps the first down they were looking for. On the Yoe 10 a pass from Ingraham to Ben Looney gave Westlake 13-0. The PAT was a run and the Chaps led 15-0.

During the final quarter Richard Cummings was nailed in the end zine for a safety.

Cameron's deepest penetration came in the fourth quarter after Westlake's kickoff. A 24 yard pass from Turner to Jackie Chubb placed the Yoemen on the Westlake-35. With 2 and 5 Don Kanetzky intercepted Turner's next pass.

This gives the Yoemen a season record of 4-2 and a district record of 0-1.

Yoe-Yoes Clip WL 8th

The Cameron Yoe-Yoes Eighth Grade Team bypassed the Westlake Eighth Grade 26-8 last Thursday in Austin.

The Yoe-Yoes scored when Stanley Manners recovered a fumble in the Westlake end zone early in the first quarter.

In the second quarter Dennis Hollas threw a pass to Jafus White for the second touchdown and the Yoe-Yoes led by 14 points. However, Westlake did score in the second quarter on an off tackle play. The score at halftime was 16-8 in favor of the Yoe-Yoes.

In the third quarter Stanley Manners scored again on an off tackle play that went about 12 yards. Frank Tena also scored a touchdown in the third quarter but it was called back due to a penalty.

The last touchdown came when Dennis Hollas completed a pass to Jayfus White. The final score was 26-0.

Jayfus White, Dennis Hollas, Joe Smitherman, and Stanley Manners were outstanding offensive players. Outstanding defensive players were Frank Tena, Joe Smitherman and Stanley Manners.

Junior High Football

The Westlake Seventh Grade nipped the Seventh Grade Yoe - Yoes 14 - 8 Thursday night.

Westlake scored in the first and third quarters.

Cameron's score came when Arron Miller ran around the end. He scored the PAT, too.

The Seventh Grade also had a touchdown called back due to a penalty. The final score was Westlake 14 - Yoe Yoes 8.

DISTRICT OPENER

The Buckholts Badgers will meet to contest the Milano Eagles at 8 p.m. on the Badger field. It will be a district opener for the two long-time rivals, October 22.

Buckholts Takes Milano

The Badger B-team traveled to Milano October 12 for see-saw action against the Eagles. However, the Badgers pulled away with a 19-18 victory.

Milano's B-string began scoring when Bruce Williams ran 45 yards for the 6 points. The extra point try failed.

Buckholts got on the scoreboard in the second quarter with 4:01 showing as time left in that period.

The Eagles ran their score up to 12 on a 3 yard run by Ray Ditto with 1:19 left in the last half. The Badgers matched them on a return 12 seconds later by Early Webb. At the sound of the whistle, the game was tied 12-12.

The third quarter was the determining factor for the two teams because it was the last time either was to score. Buckholts' Freshman Carl Tomascik sprinted 20 yards for the last Badger touchdown. The extra point pass from Dale Walzel to John Tomascik determined the Badger win.

Changes Told

AUSTIN

Boat owners registering their craft this year will find some changes in the law.

For one thing, all water craft powered by any sort of machinery must now be registered with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Even if the machinery is not the principal source of propulsion, the boat must still be registered.

Doors Of Yoe

By Marilyn Hauk

If you haven't seen as many Yoe students out prancing around this week it's probably due to the fact that report cards were given (and in some cases thrown at) Wednesday. So starts the battle cries of "bring that grade up or you're grounded." and "Oh Mother, NO ONE makes good grades in THAT class." I would sincerely like to wish both sides the best of luck.

The Cheerleaders of Friday's pep ralley had a new twist (and what a twist it was!) because in addition to our own loudmouths we had eight freshmen boys portraying their sisters. It was truly a case for Women's Lib.

Gary Meyer and Shirley Horelica have recently discovered that our Bill of Rights guarantees freedom of speech, freedom of press, but not freedom of bulletin boards.

Thursday morning preparation began for UIL competition. Those not interested reported to the gym and the Sophomores and Seniors competed in a game of Volleyball.

The Yoe Student Body came home a saddened group Friday night. Westlake dampened hopes of claiming the district title, but we still need support for the remaining games.

The Lonely Heart

Milano Nips Buckholts Junior High

Junior-high action took place October 11 at Buckholts when the Milano Eagles and the Badgers contested to a 20-12 final score. Milano claimed the victory after scoring in each period.

The Eagles wound up the first half with a touchdown and a 2 point safety.

Milano again opened the scoring on a 5 yard sprint in the third quarter. The try for extra points failed.

The Badgers dominated the fourth period with the two touchdowns which gave them their final score of 12.

The Badger Junior-high team will travel to Oglesby October 18 to play a game there.
